being. Just as truly have we fathers accepted responsibility for the new life we have called into being. This son is "my" son and I am "his" father. What a privilege to walk by the side of a growing boy! What a wonderful experience to find a little fellow trying to step in our tracks along the dusty way of life! To be a father is about the highest privilege that ever comes to any man; and to be a good father takes about all there is of any one of us. We have no greater task than this; it takes precedence over making money for food and for clothing.

Let's ask ourselves today how much time we are giving to this opportunity to be good fathers. Do we calculate the day's schedule to seek for the hour we may spend with this young here worshipper? Or do we allow ourselves to become so busy about the lesser things that the precious days slip into the years and we have lost the boy in the man? Has he longed for some time to walk with us, to play with us, to go with us to the ball game, to work by our side in the menial chores of the place? How foolish if we allow these great days to slip by while we give our attention to the little affairs that call for our time! The great God will ask us some day how much time and how much love and how much fellowship we gave to the little boy he sent to walk by our side. We asked that God send him our way; have we discharged our responsibility and our privileges? Take him to church, teach him the way of God.

being. Just as truly have we fathers accepted responsibility for the new life we have called into being. This son is "my" son and I am "his" father. What a privilege to walk by the side of a growing boy! What a wonderful experience to find a little fellow trying to step in our tracks along the dusty way of life! To be a father is about the highest privilege that ever comes to any man; and to be a good father takes about all there is of any one of us. We have no greater task than this; it takes precedence over making money for food and for clothing.

Let's ask ourselves today how much time we are giving to this opportunity to be good fathers. Do we calculate the day's schedule to seek for the hour we may spend with this young here worshipper? Or do we allow ourselves to become so busy about the lesser things that the precious days slip into the years and we have lost the boy in the man? Has he longed for some time to walk with us, to play with us, to go with us to the ball game, to work by our side in the menial chores of the place? How foolish if we allow these great days to slip by while we give our attention to the little affairs that call for our time! The great God will ask us some day how much time and how much love and how much fellowship we gave to the little boy he sent to walk by our side. We asked that God send him our way; have we discharged our responsibility and our privileges? Take him to church, teach him the way of God.
